Secret Service

Agents of the United States Known as "Shadows" and "Ropers," And the Work They Do.

Washington Special New York Tribune.

THERE ARE two classes of men employed by Uncle Sam whose nicknames, at least, are probably unknown to the average citizen. These are "shadows" and "ropers," united under one head by the treasury department to form the United States Secret Service. These nick names signify that the Secret Service men are specialists, a portion of the force being employed to associate with "green goods" men and others to shadow the persons who exchange with them or in any way co-operate or connect themselves with counterfeiters. It is important in detecting "greengoods" men to arrest the entire band. To do this the gang must be cornered, and all taken at once. The "roper" must dress just as the counterfeiters do; he must live where they do, and be able to keep up with a suspected criminal in any surroundings. His work is finally to win the confidence of a suspect, and, either by exchange of good money for bad in the presence of government witnesses, to collect evidence to prosecute the principal operators. While he pursues these, the "shadow" keeps behind any associate or supposed accomplice of the chief counterfeiter. It often becomes necessary for the chief to assign two or three "ropers" and twice as many, "shadows" to "round up" one gang. The "shadows" will start from different points and endeavor to bring the several suspects to the same rendezvous.

The United States Secret Service is wholly unlike the secret service bureaus in France and Russia. Indeed, most of the foreign services are maintained for political purposes, especially to guard the higher state officials. In this country the law authorizing the secret service establishment specifically provides that it shall only operate to suppress the unlawful production of United States Treasury notes and bonds. When its officers are lent by the Treasury to their departments the expense for their movements must be borne by these departments. Even when a secret service agent is assigned to duty in the Mint Director's office his expenses must be met by the appropriation for the mint bureau. At present $100,000 is allotted to congress for the support of this service. This sum is said to be wholly inadequate, and at the next session of congress a vigorous effort will be made to expand the scope of the service and enlarge its appropriation.

Agents entering the secret service undergo a rigid mental and physical examination, conducted personally by the chief of the division. The qualifications prescribed include a thorough knowledge of criminal methods and familiarity with the law, such as is practically gained by police experience, as well as the intellectual ability to discriminate between evidence and suspicious implications. This is essential in preparing for the presentation of a prosecution before a district attorney. Each agent, no matter where he is to operate, must be recommended by the chief, who has endeavored to divorce politics from appointments. The civil service regulations contain special exceptions for the appointment of the treasury detectives.

The average age of the agents in the service at present is 35 years. Most of the men receive their detective training while in the employ of railroads, express companies, police departments and private detective bureaus. Some of them served terms as sheriffs and others are skilled in some special way which adapts them for the work.

One of the superadded duties of the secret service is caring for the President. In the United States statutes there is a provision prohibiting the employment of private detectives by any branch of the government. This law was passed nearly 10 years ago, after the Homestead strikes, and at that time the question was agitated of legislating against the employment of Pinkerton agents by private corporations. Thus officers must be borrowed from the secret service when a President's bodyguard is needed.

The United States is divided into 25 secret service districts, each having a superintendent in charge and the necessary assistants. The districts are arranged with reference to the detection and suppression of counterfeiting. Western New York constitutes one district. A written report from each man in each district is daily exacted by the chief of the division.

In the early part of 1898 W. E. Wilkie, who was for several years a Chicago newspaper man, became the chief of the secret service bureau. He began at once to reorganize the service. Each agent's record was examined, and a number of men were dropped from the service. Under the reorganized system men are severely dealt with for drinking and lying. All officers taken in the service in the last two years were previously trained in some detective work.

The agents now most under the gaze of the public eye are Foster, Gallagher and Ireland. George Foster has been in the service about 10 years. He is about 43 years old, and has a powerful physique. He lived at Sandusky, Ohio, for several years; was doorkeeper of the Ohio legislature, was assistant doorkeeper of the house of representatives here and was then appointed as custodian of the secret service bureau. He was selected for President McKinley's guard because of his strength. Gallagher was trained in Chicago in some private police work, and entered the service here about 12 years ago. His record shows that he is an alert and active man, who has served with credit in emergencies. Ireland has been in the service two and a half years. He was graduated in law, and had experience as a newspaper man. All of these men had records full of exciting and dangerous detective experiences. Caring for the President being an adopted duty of the division, Foster was borrowed to take along to Buffalo, and Ireland and his assistant, Gallagher, who were permanently stationed there, co-operated with him. While these men have been severely criticised for not preventing the President's assassination, there has been no charge of any kind made against them.

The United States Secret Service had its origin in the early sixties, under the auspices of the war department. It actually grew out of the fact of Captain Lafayette F. Baker, of the Union Army, offering his services to Secretary Seward as a police scout to gather information concerning the Confederate army. During the war the United States began the issuance of greenbacks. Then came the first appearance of "greengoods" men. By an act of congress in 1861 or 1862, $10,000 was appropriated for the maintenance of Baker's service to suppress counterfeiting. The supervision of the service was then under the solicitor of the treasury. In 1880 the service had grown to be almost indispensable, and an appropriation of $70,000 was obtained for its support. In that year its supervision was placed in the hands of the secretary of the treasury. For the last two years congress has allotted $100,000 for the service; it has been advanced to the grade of "division," Mr. Wilkie's immediate chief is Assistant Secretary Milton E. Ailes.

FROM THE MICHIGAN WOODS.

A Former Citizen of Our Country Writes of the Lumber Camps of Michigan, His Home.

METROPOLITAN, MICH., Oct. 9, 1901.

DEAR SIR:—Now and then a copy of the dear old HERALD reaches me, and you may imagine my delight and the eagerness with which I scan its pages for items of news from people and places I know so well.

I am pleased to note the many evidences of prosperity and advancement gleaned from the reports of its many and busy correspondents, especially I am gratified to read of the progress of Hazel Green academy.

In establishing a commercial department in the Hazel Green academy a long step forward has been taken, one that will do a great deal toward placing the young men and women of that part of the state on an equality with other youths of our country. I learned for myself by actual contact with the world that a commercial education is a thing of great value to a young man of "these days," and something that he can not get along very well without. Having learned this lesson thoroughly, I set to work with the object of obtaining a commercial education, and with my own efforts, good hard "clicks" I earned the money, and last spring and summer took up and completed a commercial course in The Northern Indiana Normal school at Valparaiso, Indiana, and from the advantages I have gained from such commercial training I would advise every young man who enters Hazel Green academy to take up and complete thoroughly a commercial education, and then remember that the world is bigger than the territory bounded by the lines of Wolfe, Breathitt, Lee and Magoffin counties, and extends beyond the horizon that bounds the Eastern Kentucky mountains.

There are plenty of positions and opportunities awaiting young men of ability. Men are very scarce i. e. laboring men in this country this fall, and wages are correspondingly high. The great logging companies are crying "men" more "men," and they can not get half the men they want, at $30, $35 and $40 per month for sawyers, swamper, cant-hook men and teamsters. These wages include board. I have a good job with the Muller Co., headquarters at Chicago, steady work at $50 per month. The company is a large cedar concern, and at some future time I will describe the business in full how telegraph posts and poles are made, and where they come from if the readers of THE HERALD will indulge me.

In conclusion I will say that the outlook for a prosperous winter in the lumbering regions of the northwest is very flattering, and millions of feet of pine and cedar will be ready for market by spring.

Respectfully,
H. M. SWORD,
Care of Muller Co. Camp 2.

Liberal With Money.
THE CINCINNATI WEEKLY ENQUIRER is offering $50,000 in Cash Premiums for nearest correct guesses on the total vote of Ohio. The election in Ohio occurs on Tuesday, November 5th, this year, and is for a Governor, State Officers and Legislators. The new Legislature will choose a United States Senator to succeed Senator Foraker.

THE ENQUIRER also offers $50 each week for the largest club of guesses received during that week. This is an excellent chance for obtaining money easy.

Lexington was filled with distinguished Odd Fellows the first of last week, and on Wednesday the grand lodge officers were elected.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They are safe, prompt, gentle, effective in removing all impurities from the liver and bowels. Small and easy to take. Never gripe or distress.

H. F. PIERATT.

Cabin of Historic Interest.
The historic Patterson cabin of Lexington has been shipped to Dayton, Ohio, where the old structure will be re-erected near the scene of Colonel Patterson's conflict with the Indians on the Pickaway plains. In that fight, while engaged in a personal encounter with a Shawnee Indian, Colonel Patterson had the bones of the back of his right hand broken by a stroke of the rifle of the savage at whose head he had aimed a blow with his sword. This fracture caused a reopening of Colonel Patterson's wounds in his right arm, received in 1776, and they remained open until his death, 40 years afterward. John H. Patterson, the wealthy manufacturer of Dayton, descendant of Colonel Patterson, bought the cabin and had it removed to Dayton.

Tot Causes Night Alarm.
"One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snyder, of Crittenden, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." Infallible for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottles free at J. Taylor Day, Hazel Green, and S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton, drug stores.

Choice Music Received.
We have received from the Groom Music Company, Steinway Hall, Chicago, several professional copies of their late music. This company is putting out some good piece, both vocal and instrumental, and will gladly examine authors' manuscripts with a view to their publication. It sets song words and poems to music on a basis that pays a good profit to the author.

A Fiendish Attack.
An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50 cents at J. Taylor Day, Hazel Green, or S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton, drug stores.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on the 9th inst., to rob the Deposit Bank of Pleasantville. The door to the vault was blown partially open, but no booty was obtained.

Do you suffer from piles? If so do not turn to surgery for relief. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will act more quickly, surely and safely, saving you the expense and danger of an operation.

H. F. PIERATT.

The six men indicted for the alleged theft of the ballots used in the recent republican primary at Louisville, waived trial last week, and will be arraigned Nov. 22.

C. M. Phelps, Forestdale, Vt., says his child was completely cured of a bad case of exema by the use of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of all counterfeits. It instantly relieves piles.

H. F. PIERATT.

B. H. Crutcher celebrated his 98th birthday at Owensboro on October 8th. He was born in 1803, and cast his first vote for John Quincy Adams in 1824. He is an active man even now.

THE HERALD for 12 months and $5,000 for $1.00 is a great big bargain awaiting the man who can figure the total vote of Ohio, Massachusetts and Iowa. See "Try Your Luck" on last page for particulars.

Fire destroyed W. D. Smith's store at Dunnville, near Middleboro, with a loss of $1,500.

Lewis Ockerman, Goshen, Ind.: DeWitt's Little Early Risers never bend me double like other pills, but do their work thoroughly and make me feel like a boy. "Certain thorough, gentle."

Election Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1901.

THE pride of Hazel Green is the academy, and the fact that it grows better with each succeeding year speaks loudly in favor of Prof. Cord's wise management and endears the school to educational enthusiasts, not only here but throughout Eastern Kentucky. Not only is the attendance better but the faculty is improved and its facilities enlarged by many up-to-date features. A step forward was made this year by adding Prof. Blankenship, who is thoroughly prepared to give our young men and young women a business education. This, too, at an insignificant sum as compared with the cost in commercial colleges. The young man or young woman who desires to equip him- or herself for the duties pertaining to a mercantile or commercial life can do so at the academy while taking a regular routine course, and at only a slightly additional cost. Indeed, the student who avails of this opportunity can attain as much knowledge as he would in a regular commercial college and save at least $100, which surely is worthy consideration. Write to Prof. W. H. Cord, the principal, in regard to the matter, and in the meantime read the ad of this popular school.

NEXT to electing a United States senator, through our state senator and representative, the republicans of Wolfe county would rather elect the county judge than go to a big meeting where "dinner on the ground" is a feature. They want the administration of affairs of the county, and if they could capture the county judge they would be in the swim. But they can not do so if the democrats do their duty, and if there be any in our party who are inclined to sulk we appeal to them not to do so. Weed Congleton will make as good a judge, in our opinion, as the county ever had, and you will bear us out when you see him administer the affairs of the county, which he surely will do if you do your part of the work. Don't scratch the best advice one democrat ever gave another, and now is the time to heed it. It is an art we never did and never expect to practice. Do as we do and all the democrats will be elected.

DEMOCRATS, are you alive to the situation? Do you know that the republicans want to elect a state senator and representative worse now, maybe, than ever before? It is important that every democrat line up on the 5th of November to vote for Charley Sublett and Jesse Morris, so that we can elect a U. S. senator vice Mr. Deboe. Having slipped him in when the democrats were wrangling, the republicans will strain every string they can pull to re-elect him or send one of the same complexion to succeed him, and if we fail to elect either Sublett or Morris we would help do so. You must vote for them absolutely. Every democrat who fails to vote for them will feel that he was instrumental in the election of a republican senator, should such a calamity befall us, and in such contingency his remorse of conscience would be a vivid, veritable hell. Vote right and all will be well with the party, and your conscience will repose in contentment.

JUDAS ISCARIOT was a jewel of suburb setting and a thing of beauty as compared to the three Hagins brothers of our neighboring county Breathitt; Benedict Arnold was a hero, before whose picture all patriotic Americans should prostrate themselves in pride, and Simon Gerty's name should be held in sacred remembrance by every loyal Kentuckian in the world, wherever his habitation. Personally the three Hagins boys are without guile, so far as we know, but politically they are as the stench of a rotting carcass to olfactory organs of decent people. In another place we publish "A Disappointed Constituency" and "The Bolters," respectively, both of which from the editorial columns of the Jackson Hustler. Read them both and see if their characters as there pictured are not types of the illustrious predecessors in treachery we have named, and then with us you can wonder if, like the first of our trio, they will not each go forth in shame and "fall down and burst his belly."

Henry Pieratt bought all the picture frames the agent of the Chicago Portrait Co. had left over and is selling them 50 per cent cheaper than the agent sold them. The number is limited, and if you want one you'd better move in a hurry, as they are going like hot cakes. 52-1f

The Bolters.

The bolters, or as they term it, the fusionists, of this county, are headed by J. Wise Hagins, D. F. Hagins and A. L. Hagins. These three brothers now hold the respective offices of county judge, circuit court clerk and county superintendent, to which they were elected by democrats. They have been singularly honored by the democratic party; perhaps beyond their deserts.

In 1896 the elder brother was elected clerk of the Breathitt county court over George H. Patrick by a small majority, yet Patrick did not quit his party, but has ever since continued a consistent democrat and will support the present democratic nominees at the approaching election. Four years later he was re-elected without opposition. In 1893 he was a candidate for the nomination for re-election and was opposed by W. B. Cardwell, whom he defeated. But Cardwell continued a demagogue and will support the democratic nominees. In 1897 he was a candidate for the democratic nomination for county judge against Hon. G. S. Miller, whom he defeated by a narrow margin. Judge Miller is still a democrat, the present efficient chairman of the democratic county committee.

In 1892 the younger brother, A. L. Hagins and S. S. Taulbee were candidates for the democratic nomination for circuit court clerk. Hagins was nominated by a bare majority, but Taulbee continued a democrat. In 1897 he was re-nominated and re-elected without opposition. The same primary in which these brothers were nominated for county judge and circuit court clerk, their other brother, E. F. Hagins, the present bolting candidate for county superintendent, and H. B. Noble were opposing candidates for the nomination for that office. The former received upon the face of the returns a majority of four votes, and was decided the nominee and elected without opposition. Mr. Noble, although defeated, continued a democrat. Thus we had three brothers elected to three of the most lucrative offices in the county at the same time.

This year Judge Hagins, still professing to be a democrat, was a candidate for re-nomination for county judge, while his brother, D. F. Hagins, playing the same role, was a candidate for re-nomination for county superintendent. They were both defeated, and they and their family bolt. Defeat and disappointment are good enough for any one else, but they are too bad for them.

They and their brother have held office in Breathitt county for thirty years at the hands of the democratic party. During this time the democratic party passed through troublesome days. We had the Goebel election law with its innovations upon the principles of the party. We had the contests for state offices, against which many democrats revolted. But this triumvirate indorsed all these, and would have indorsed as many more, had the party, for their indorsement, been willing to have continued the whole Hagins family in office. This it was not willing to do, for life tenure in office is inconsistent with the doctrines of true democracy. If these gentlemen will contrast their present conduct with that of those they have heretofore defeated for office, they would conclude in the words of the poet:

"Could thou in vision see
Thyself the man God meant,
Thou never more would be
The man thou art, content."
—Jackson Hustler.

A Disappointed Constituency.

After having been retained in office for fifteen consecutive years by the democratic party, an honor seldom achieved in a county where qualified and ambitious young men abound, and failing in an effort to reinstate himself in office for another four years, the Hon. J. Wise Hagins deserted the party in which he had been nurtured and fed, and went into the republican camp. His many friends who had followed him and had supported him in all his races were naturally surprised at this course. They had reason to expect and did expect better things from him. For one ought to bear the disappointments of defeat as gracefully as he wears the laurels of victory. But the surprise of his friends reached its limits when it was learned that he had carried his disappointments on the bench. The statutes provide that the county shall be laid off into convenient voting precincts, but no precinct to contain more than 300 voters. Acting under this statute Judge Hagins had divided the county into the necessary voting precincts. No precinct contained the maximum number of voters. Everybody was satisfied with them. No complaints were heard, save now and then a croak from a disgruntled republican. The first county court succeeding the primary election in which the judge and his brother were defeated in their candidacy for county judge and county superintendent, respectively, and in which the republicans had no part, he, at the instance of the triumvirate of the republican party in the county, made an order materially changing the boundaries of four of the election precincts that he, himself, had made, and that too without a petition or complaint from any one affected by the change.

It was thought by many of his friends that this was but the ebullitions of his disappointments. That he would not nurse his wrath. That irate passion would give way to sober reason. But the expectation of his friends were disappointed when at the last hour he had notices of the changes posted. In this he has affected no one but his friends. It is immaterial to democrats at what precinct they will vote, for wherever they vote they will vote the democratic ticket. As we have said before all they need and all they want is an honest ballot, a free vote and a fair count. These changes will not in the least affect the democratic vote, but they will yet affect the conscience of Judge Hagins who has always been an honorable and upright gentleman. The republican party has no place for him. After they have played upon his prejudices and used him they will cast him from them as something unclean. He will yet conclude in the language of Solomon that "it is better to be a living dog than a dead lion." He will yet reflect upon and see the errors of his way. His conscience will yet assert itself, and when it does "it will bite like a serpent and sting like a adder." He will yet conclude that he would rather be a living dog and wear a democratic collar, than be the carcass of a dead lion buffeted about in the republican camp.—Jackson Hustler.

His Lines Fall in Pleasant Places.

The many friends of Carl Mize will rejoice to hear that he has embarked in business at Indianapolis, Ind., where he has bought an interest in the Indiana Pharmacy Co., wholesale dealers and manufacturers of standard and staple drugs. He is well pleased with his venture so far, and will soon be joined by his father and mother, who will take up their residence there. Indeed Mr. Mize, sr., is there now temporarily. Carl Mize is well adapted to a business of that kind, which is light and cleanly, and being a young man of good manners and splendid social qualities he will soon build up a coterie of complacent companions. He is generous to a fault and his friendship is so founded that it is lasting. He has a good business education, and for a young man is eminently qualified in all essentials to be one of the heads in such an establishment. With his many friends, whose name is legion, we hope him a plethoric purse and a pleasant pathway. In addition to his interest, he will have a salary as book-keeper and secretary and treasurer of the company.

See advertisement of Joshua De Busk's sale, at top of next column, and be sure to attend the same if you want some rare bargains. He has a lot of things not advertised.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves?

In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, nervousness, general debility, and in the various ailments of the system.

How are they expelled? By

which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.

THE HERALD.

Uncle Wash Childers and wife of Maytown were here yesterday on business.

W. G. Franklin, representing H. Krish & Co., Cattelsburg, was interviewing our merchants yesterday.

Miss Nora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Adams, who has been sick for a week or so, is reported to be on the mend.

Mrs. Lizzie Hall and Emma Amburn, and Misses Emma Carter and Anna Hale of Pekin, Morgan county, visited Mrs. Charley Cecil on Wednesday.

John Curtin and wife of Maytown, were visiting here Monday and called upon Mrs. Rilda Day to show their sympathy and condolence at her grievous loss.

The foundation of the academy is about half completed, and the brick kiln is progressing nicely. Mr. Snowden, who is to burn the brick, says he will fire the kiln soon.

Rev. H. D. Adams who was to preach a funeral sermon at Leathwood church, Menefee county, last Sunday, was unavoidably kept at home by sickness of one of his daughters.

A drove of cattle belonging to Frank Hopkins of Prestonburg passed through here yesterday en route to Mt. Sterling. There were 77 head in the bunch. Frank Allen also had a bunch of 18 for the same market.

John Graham and wife of Neola were here Monday on business. At least John came to see Uncle Ike Hartfield, from whom he bought a nice bill of dry goods and notions, and Mrs. Graham came along to boss the job.

Dr. Nickell was on Friday called to the residence of Sherman Shackelford, in the Calaboose, to set his leg, which was broken between the knee and ankle. He was riding on the running gear of his wagon and was thrown against a stump, with the result above.

Owing to the illness and death of my daughter, I could not go to the city as I anticipated, but I have ordered a complete line of hats, trimmings, notions, etc., etc., and they will be here the latter part of this or first of next week.

Mrs. F. N. Day.

Kash & Ritchie have just completed a well at the new academy, which is 84 feet deep and flows 200 gallons of water per hour. They have under contract a well for Ed. Cecil which will just go down sufficient to bring a good supply of water.

IN MEMORY

Of Mrs. Minnie Day James.

We can hardly realize that death has come to her, so modest, so noble, so chaste and pure was she that death it seems has played a cruel part. Relentless death, ah, cruel, cruel fate, remorseless in its course will pluck and bind the precious flowers in its sheaves.

From the billowy sea of life to the calm ocean of eternity her muffled oar has gone; its wake is lying in tranquil water and the anchor is cast beyond, and in the divine fruitage of God's resplendent harvest she will be rewarded. If there be a purity of soul, a grandeur of purpose to be attained in life it was hers; if there be one in whom was centered all qualities of pure womanhood it was she. It may be strange for us to see, but in her death there was a voiceless song, a silent requiem which chants the Master's will. Her life was in the budding of morn, but lo, it met its sunset. It was a noble death. As the king of day reclines in the glory of the evening twilight gilded by a golden sunset, so she sank to the endless sleep surrounded by the glories of a beautiful life and the colors of joy's immortality.

She was kind and affectionate. Her every desire was to beautify the moral sphere of life in which she lived. Her husband, her parents, her fond brothers and sisters in whose hearts are burning the anguish of despair have lovingly paid a final tribute to one who was the noblest of the living. Her pathway was gilded by the purest examples of christian graces; it reached its zenith, and as it falls, the deepest melancholy of our life lingers over the remains. Whence came the sad gloom that envelops our lowly mountain hamlet? Every heart is bowed in grief, every home is shrouded in gloom; a star has gone from among us but its radiance will ever shine in our pathway.

Moved by the fateful knell of death we tread, In sorrow's path with beautiful hopes ahead.

No, never shall we know a purer soul
Nor on the earth, or even on heaven's roll
In this we trust to find a fulsome rest,
Eternal joys in regions of the best.

MAK FRYE.

"For the Sake of Fun, Mischief is Done." A vast amount of mischief is done, too, because people neglect to keep their blood pure. This mischief, fortunately, may be undone by the faithful use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills. Non-irritating.

Uncle Ike Hartfield was at the Day House this week, and sold handsome bills to all of our merchants. Besides S. C. Alexander of Daysboro, and John Graham of Neola, bought nice bills from him. Does advertising pay? Well, yes, he thinks so, if the ad. be in the HAZEL GREEN HERALD. He has captured the trade of this section through an ad in this paper and by his own affable manner and a line of first-class goods at moderate prices. THE HERALD keeps him in the minds of the merchants and by his own cleverness and a line of goods unsurpassed, he does the rest.

China Collections.

N. Hudson Moore, who contributed a valuable article to The Delineator some months ago on Old Blue China, contributes to the November Delineator an article dealing with Lowestoft Ware. China collectors will do well to read this article.

Miss Mary Jane Tyler is confined to her bed with fever, and is said to be quite sick.

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

Lee Brooks passed through here one day last week with his son-in-law, a Mr. Spencer, who was very sick with fever. His wife being blind, she could not administer to his wants, and Mr. Brooks took him to his home to have him cared for.

Ye scribe and Dewitt Taylor left Campton Friday morning for a short visit at Frenchburg. We went through by what is known as Spradling bridge, and took dinner with Uncle Bob Taylor on Big branch, and chatted until 1 o'clock. We passed by Miss Ava Swango's school, and saw her sitting in the sun—it was noon. We were getting along nicely until we reached Marib; there we suffered to the luck of breaking our buggy, and left the vehicle and chartered a road wagon for Frenchburg. We were just in time to attend the teachers' association at that place, and had the pleasure of seeing the teachers of that county. We left Sunday morning for Campton at 9 o'clock in the dark.

Mr. Hutchinson, the proprietor of the bucking machine, has returned. The machine commenced work last Saturday, and a large crowd gathered to see the first stave made in Wolfe.

Miss Lula Taulbee, who is teaching in Breathitt, passed through here last Friday on the train en route to Daysboro. Miss Lula is teaching one of the best schools that has ever been taught in her district.

A party of youngsters went to Jackson last Sunday, and every one had an enjoyable time on the O. & K., but some were sorry as no one got on when we reached the Will Hurst station. I think the reason was because they were not notified in time of the trip.

George Chapell, accompanied by Luther Clair, was walking down the street opposite the Masonic lodge, when some shooting was done in the lower end of the city. They heard the balls passing all around them and some close to their heads, but one ball struck Clair in the wrist, and as the boys were not loaded for wild game they took to their heels.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and becomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Poughkeepsie, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

He Is In Bad Health.

The friends of Hanson Kennedy will regret to hear that he is a victim of consumption. The Cincinnati Enquirer, Oct. 10th, says: "I don't believe that Judge Hanson Kennedy, of our circuit, will be able to make the race for judge at the next election, if he is alive," remarked a Cynthiana (Ky.) man at the Gibson, "for he is now at Boulder, Colorado, for his health, which, I understand, does not improve. He is a very delicate man, and threatened with consumption. He was appointed judge by Gov. Beckham to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Kimbrough, and has filled the position admirably, and our people would regret to see him go."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will cure you for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

"This Is My Last Drink."
Joseph Craig, a prominent young man of Montgomery county, walked into a saloon at Mt. Sterling one day last week, called for some whiskey, drew some strichnine tablets from his pocket which he put in the glass, and remarking to the barkeeper, "This is my last drink," swallowed the contents and died in ten minutes.

Large picture frames, 16x20, for $5.00 to $12.50; sold by others for $2.50 to $3.00. Small frames in endless variety. A Miniature Still.

"There is a spring away up in the mountains of Kentucky, Wolfe county," remarked Dr. Malcolm Dills, of Carlisle, Ky., at the Emery, "which if known to topers generally would occasion a mighty pilgrimage in that direction even if they had to walk. The water, which drips from the mountain side, is strongly impregnated with sulphate of copper, and a man drinking it for a time would become copper-bottomed and lined, and could drink with impunity, indeed, convert his stomach into a miniature still."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

State College of Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State) College of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post graduate courses of study are also provided, leading each to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers more than thirty professors and instructors. County Appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses. The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern. The last Legislature appropriated $20,000 for a college home for young women, and a drill hall and gymnasium has been provided for men. Military tactics and science are fully provided for and required by Congress. Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the college to supply. Last year the matriculation list was 620. For catalogue, method of obtaining appointments, information regarding courses of study and terms of admission, apply to JAMES K. PATTERSON, Ph. D., LL. D., President, or to Prof. D. C. READ THE TESTIMONY OF TWO WELL KNOWN CITIZENS OF WOLFE.

Mr. Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky.:

I purchased some of the Vite-Ore of you in the latter part of March, and after taking about a half-pint of the Vite-Ore Elixer my nerves were as steady as when I was 16 years of age, and I am now past 75. For more than a year I had been trying all the patent medicines and nostrums I could hear of to build myself up, but nothing did me any good until I used Vite Ore, which my wife brought me from your house. After using it a week I went out and did three days' hard work as I have done in 25 years, and I was not more fatigued than I was 25 years ago over the same work. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I want everybody in the mountains to know what it did for me so they may try it. Hoping every one who has that tired feeling incident to old age will buy Vite-Ore of you and give it a fair trial, I remain, thankfully yours for putting me on to this remedy.

JAMES LACY.

I can vouch for every word Mr. Lacy says in the above. I am his wife and bought the medicine of Mr. Cooper for him, though I did not have much faith in it, because we had tried so many things that did no good. I have also used Vite Ore, and am stronger and in better health than for years, putting I attribute to its use.
